

Facility Manager of the Year Award

Larry Lewis, Director of Tennis for the City of Fort Collins, Colorado, was awarded Facility Manager of the Year for the Intermountain Region by the United States Professional Tennis Association (USPTA) at its annual convention in Las Vegas, Nevada in February, 2007. The USPTA is the largest and oldest organization of tennis teaching professionals in the world. The intermountain region includes Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, and Nevada.

The award is presented to the manager that best encourages professional development of staff, promotion of tennis, support for USPTA education, hiring and supporting USPTA-certified tennis professionals, special achievements in the tennis facility industry, and contributions to the tennis community.
